Getting the Most From Your Drink

You probably haven't worried a lot about it, but a Danish psychologist has advice on how to get the most out of beer.

Harmonize it with sound.

It seems that each beer has its own best sound and that beer tastes best at the note of harmony.

The problem for the average drinker, of course, is to find the right pitch.

When the sound was right, the beer tasted rich, full bodied or smooth. One subject felt warm and happy; another felt relaxed, others described a total experience.

But when pitch deviated slightly above or below the note of harmony, the beer became insipid, watery, bitter, thin, inane and stale like lukewarm water.

Dr. Kristian Holt-Hansen of Copenhagen University suggests that there is a point of crossover, where different senses join to create a single experience.

After testing 20 different samples, the psychologist is inclined to believe that each beverage has its own particular harmonizing pitch. But finding that pitch is time consuming.

But from the number of people that drink beer, it must be kind of fun trying to find that pitch.

Push for Women's Rights

I'm not sure of how much we have, but women should have some rights.

Extensive reforms in family law, new grounds for divorce and repeal of all criminal abortion laws are among the recommendations that have gone out to state commissions dealing with the status of women.

The recommendations were made by the Citizen's Advisory Council on the Status of Women, a non-governmental group that acts in an advisory capacity to state commissions. It is headed by former Senator Maurine Neuberger, Democrat of Oregon.

The council believes that family law should change to reflect the reality of a partnership in marriage. At a financial level, this means new property rights for the woman; a 50-50 division of property earned during the course of the marriage is suggested.

The council points out that even in eight states with community property laws the wife has no legal say in how money is spent. Texas, however, has reformed its law to give equal management rights to husband and wife.

The council also recommends that grounds for divorce should include desertion and one year's voluntary separation. Other recommendations are: Alimony should not be used to redress wrongs; and custody of children should be awarded to the better parent without automatic preference for the woman.

I don't expect any overnight changes, and I haven't studied all these issues... but I think we should start thinking about women being human beings.

Onassis Are in London

JACQUELINE Onassis, the former Mrs. Kennedy, alights from an aircraft at London airport Thursday evening. She and her Greek shipping multi-millionaire husband Aristotle Onassis arrived in London unexpectedly and drove off to the London home of her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill. Yale to Get the Feminine Touch

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — At a tumultuous meeting, Yale college has approved a proposal to admit women beginning in September 1969.

Student objections to housing, demanded alternatives that arrangements proposed for the women would mix the coeds into the women, however, may postpone university community on a implementation of coeducation more "equitable" basis.

Brewster said a decision would have to be made by "the first of the week" if the college is to salvage its hopes of coeducation in 1969.

A university spokesman said Brewster will meet throughout the weekend with members of the Yale Corporation.

The faculty's approval of Yale coeducation came less than a week after "coeducation week," an experiment in coeducation organized by students.

More than 700 young women from colleges throughout the northeast lived and studied on the Yale campus in the experiment. Under the plan the freshmen girls were to be housed together in one of Yale's 12 residential colleges. The other 250 in the 8,000 student population were to live off campus in a relative nearby homes and apartments.

First Negro Miss UCLA Is Named

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first Negro to be named Miss UCLA says she's surprised, because she wears her hair in what she calls natural African style.

"I'm natural and it is unusual, or at least I think it's unusual, for the average American beauty contest judge to accept me as beautiful in my own terms," said Carolyn Webb, a 20-year-old English major at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Judges chose her Thursday over 154 other contestants.

Siamese Twins Are Separated

NEW YORK (AP) — Siamese twin girls who were born 17 months ago and end with a common leg were separated 10 days ago at Brooklyn's Brookdale Hospital Center and are coming along satisfactorily, says their surgeon.

Born at the Center on June 15, 1967, were Sherrie and Sharisse Jones, daughters of a Brooklyn postal worker and his wife. The parents have three other children, all born without abnormalities.

Dr. Ascher L. Mestel, pediatric surgeon who directed the six-man operating team, said Thursday the twins should lead "a relatively normal life" after orthopedic work and hospital therapy.

During the 11-hour operation, Mestel said, it had been necessary to separate "about every major system except for the heart and lung."
