

NATIONAL PARK MAN VISITS SCENIC IOWA

Roger W. Toll Spends Five Days in Vicinity of McGregor

Northeastern Iowa citizens interested in the preservation of historical and scenic points of interest are awaiting with keen anticipation the report of Roger W. Toll, inspector for the national park service...

Included in the recent survey he has made in northeast Iowa were Fort Atkinson, which the federal government has been asked to make a national monument...

Dr. Charles R. Keyes of Mount Vernon, state archaeologist, told Inspector Toll that a limited area in the contiguous corners of Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota contains the only mixed groups of linear, conical and oblique mounds built by the Indians.

Dr. Keyes said the Indian mounds from the mouth of the Turkey river to the mouth of the Yellow river, with the fish farm group above Lansing, constitute the most interesting mound group in the country.

The party also included Walter H. Beall of West Union, president of the Northeastern Iowa National Park association...

The first day, Wednesday, May 20th, was devoted to Jackson county, Iowa, Jo Daviess county, Illinois, and Grant county, Wisconsin.

School Bond Issue Election At Tripoli Results in Tie

Hopes for a new school building at Tripoli faded Tuesday after the votes had been counted at an election held that day.

The result was a tie—233 votes for and 233 votes against the proposition. The new state law provides that bond issue elections must pass by at least 60 per cent of the votes cast.

This election was the result of a controversy which developed following a similar election held in February which passed with a majority of seven votes.

The legality of several votes was questioned by opponents of the proposal, and the board of education finally decided to call a new election rather than carry the first one through the courts.

Weather Remains Cool; Good Rain Benefits Vegetation

The weather the past week has remained unseasonably cool, not the warmth this section usually experiences at this time of the year.

In spite of this fact, vegetation of all kinds is making considerable progress. Corn is up high enough in many fields so that farmers have begun to cultivate.

This section had a good rain which fell practically all of Thursday night and part of Friday forenoon.

Practically all of the concern over shortage of moisture has been dissipated here, although the weather bureau report shows the precipitation for the year still several inches short of normal.

The rain last week practically assures a normal hay crop in this vicinity. The Gazette is informed that the alfalfa acreage is smaller this year, owing to the expense of preparing the soil for that seed.

Here are the maximum and minimum temperatures for the past week:

PLANS BEING MADE FOR COUNTY PICNIC

Annual Farm Event Will Be Held near Tripoli Thursday, June 18th

A county wide committee representing the Bremer county Farm Bureau, cooperative creameries and other cooperative associations, met at the Legion hall at Tripoli to discuss plans for the Farm Bureau and Cooperative picnic to be held near Tripoli on Thursday, June 18th.

Representatives of the Tripoli Commercial club were present to offer their cooperation in anything to help make the picnic a success.

The county agent reported that a committee composed of C. P. Coykendahl, president of the Bremer county Farm Bureau, Lee O. Penock, publisher of the Tripoli Leader, Burton E. Sweet and himself had visited various places near Tripoli to select a site for the picnic and that the unanimous choice of the committee was the Sweet pasture, about 1 1/4 miles east of Tripoli.

The pasture, in addition to having plenty of room for the parking of cars, has at least two ideal spots with plenty of shade where the program can be given.

Following a thorough discussion on various plans, B. B. Bennett, Will Krueger and J. P. Snelling were appointed a committee on sports; Lee O. Penock was appointed chairman of the committee on publicity; M. A. Woodcock, E. W. Kivchoff and Theo. Stahltut were appointed on the refreshment-stand committee and the county agent was appointed chairman of the program committee.

Representatives of the Commercial club will take charge of the grounds and will see to it that seats are provided and that other general arrangements for the picnic grounds have been completed.

The county agent reported that W. F. Shilling had definitely agreed to be the speaker of the day and that he would not only attract a large audience from Bremer county, but that dairymen from surrounding counties had made inquiries as to the time and
